Subject: PFCs detected near Rye's main water source

Kerri,

This issue is cropping up close to home again. See link below. Seacoast also publishes the York County Coast Star, that covers our service territory. It's only a matter of time that we will be getting a call from them. When they do, I'll need an answer about the DEP's study. As you may recall, our understanding was that I would hold off with going public with this topic until the Phase 2 study was completed and published.

We strive to be transparent with our customers. The longer we wait, the less transparent we will appear. I'm starting to feel the pressure from this. We can't hold off the inevitable forever. Please advise.

Thanks,

Norm
